Four More Witnesses Give Testimony

SCRANTON, April 10 (P)—Four more witnesses gave secret testimony on construction of the U. S. Signal Corps' Tobyhanna depot today as plans were announced to have the jury tour the huge military installation.

The jury is investigating alleged labor and contract racketeering at the depot.

Witnesses today were John Bright, a Pittston contractor, and his son, Joseph, who supervised work done by his father's firm at the depot; John B. Kemmel, a Philadelphia contractor, and Taylor Roberts, a special agent for the FBI.

The work done by the Bright and Kemmel firms was not specified.

Judge John W. Murphy, chief judge of the U. S. Middle District Court of Pennsylvania, told the 21 jurors he has arranged for them to visit the Pocono Mountain base, perhaps next Tuesday. He reminded them of their oath of secrecy, but said this should in no way prevent them from conducting the tour as they saw fit—even to talking to persons at the depot.

The group will travel by chartered bus accompanied by at least three deputy marshals. Because of the age and physical condition of some jurors, it was indicated they may make the tour in the bus, with a guide to point out various parts of the 360-acre depot.

Judge Murphy also said that photographs taken during the construction of the depot could be used to advantage by the jurors.

Hammarskjold Takes Part In 'On-Spot' Talks

CAIRO, Egypt, April 10 (P)—Dag Hammarskjold settled to on-the-spot talks tonight in his effort to still the Arab-Israeli violence disturbing the peace of the Middle East.

Amid reports of fresh incidents, the U.N. secretary general flew first to Tel Aviv and then to Cairo on the special peace mission he undertook by unanimous order of the Security Council.

Maj. Gen. E.L.M. Burns, the Canadian chief of the U.N. Truce Commission, met Hammarskjold on his arrival in Tel Aviv from Beirut, Lebanon, and accompanied him here.

Premier

Hammarskjold talked with Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi and arranged to meet Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser tomorrow. A spokesman said the secretary general's plans are flexible, but he expects to remain here until Monday and then return to Israel for consultations with Premier David Ben-Gurion's government.

The 9-nation Arab League Political Committee, meeting in Cairo, today urged all Arab states to cooperate with Hammarskjold. In a recommendation to be submitted to the League's Council tomorrow, the committee said Arabs should aid the U.N. chief to learn the truth about the Middle East.

Egypt and Israel were still exchanging charges and Arab lines appeared tightening. This was indicated in a vow by Jordan's King Hussein and Syrian President Sukri al-Kuwatli before the Damascus tomb of Sultan Saladin, 13th century conqueror of the crusaders, to devote "all our powers for the defense of the holy land."

Visit

Syrian official quarters announced Kuwaiti and Hussein, who is on a three-day visit to Damascus, have agreed in principle on their attitude toward possible Israeli aggression. They said a joint military commission is expected to be formed shortly to materialize the agreement, under which any Israeli attack on the frontier of either country will be regarded as directed against both, necessitating "joint defensive action."

Body Of Sixth Marine March Victim Located As Inquiry Court Opens Investigation

PARIS ISLAND, S. C., April 10 (P)—A Marine Corps court of inquiry heard testimony today from survivors of a forced night march into a treacherous tidal stream, ordered by a drill sergeant "to teach the platoon discipline."

Six of the 75 recruits who were led into the river near this "boot" training center by S. Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon of Worcester, Mass., drowned.

Gen. Randolph Pate, Marine Corps Commandant who came here from Washington to make a personal investigation, said the forced march was "most unusual," and unique in his experience.

He said McKeon had no authority for disciplinary action nor for scheduling such a march.

"Serious Tragedy"

Maj. Gen. Joseph C. Burger, the base commander, also said the march was unscheduled and called it "a most serious tragedy."

McKeon, 31, who will remain in custody until the inquiry is completed, issued a statement through his counsel stating that he led the men on the ill-fated march to teach them discipline.

"I can't find words to express my grief," he added.

Marine skin divers recovered the body of Thomas Curtis Hardeman, 20, of Vidalia, Ga., late today. The other five, whose bodies were recovered yesterday, were Donald Francis O'Shea, 18, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Charles Francis Reilly, 18, of Clyde, N. Y.; Jerry Lamont Thomas, 17, of Alexandria, Va.; Leroy Thomason, 18, of Brooklyn; and Norman Alfred Wood, 17, of Bay Shore, N. Y.

Gen. Pate ordered the court of inquiry to take testimony from all of the survivors. He said he felt that Marine regulations cover the situation thoroughly and that he believed the Corps could handle the investigation without a congressional inquiry.

The board of inquiry is a fact-finding body, empowered only to make recommendations as to whether McKeon should be allowed to go free or whether there is enough evidence to warrant a court-martial. The board's report will go to Gen. Burger as the base commanding general, then to Gen. Pate. Pate can order the court-martial if the facts warrant.

Pate said earlier he would personally study the board's report. "We have absolutely nothing to hide," he added.

"The accident which occurred... was deplorable, but I ask that our history be remembered and that no premature opinions be formed on modifications to our system of training until a full evaluation has been made of the facts by the court of inquiry."

The inquiry was conducted in secret, and only one of the survivors would comment for publication, asking that his name not be used.

This survivor said "no particular punishment was involved... it was just general disciplinary action... and not for any particular offense on the part of anyone."

Knowland Distant Third In Battle

CHICAGO, April 10 (P)—Adlai E. Stevenson polled more votes than President Eisenhower tonight as returns accumulated from the Illinois presidential preference primary.

Democrat Stevenson had a big advantage in his party's stronghold, Cook County Chicago, while the President set the pace in normally Republican downstate.

Eisenhower carried Illinois with almost 55 per cent of the total vote when he and Stevenson were matched in the 1952 presidential election.

Stevenson, former governor of Illinois and backed by his party's state organization, was listed alone on the Democratic ballot. But Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, who did not campaign in Illinois, picked up write-in votes.

Republican, 3,232 of 9,511 precincts: Eisenhower 147,459; Knowland 8,366; Daily 3,981.

Democratic, 3,817 of 9,511 precincts: Stevenson 381,810; write-ins: 1,174 of 9,511 precincts: Kefauver 2,641.

Apparently in many polling places the Kefauver write-ins were not being counted early but they will be added up in the official canvass.

On the GOP ballot Eisenhower was opposed by Sen. William F. Knowland of California and Lar Daly, Chicago, a perennial office-seeker. Knowland is supporting Eisenhower but could not remove his name from the ballot after the President announced his decision to seek a second term.

Gov. William G. Stratton, the state's No. 1 Republican, moved well out ahead of four challengers in his bid for nomination for a second term. He was opposed by State Treasurer Warren Wright, Lar Daly, Anthony Polley of Chicago and Sidney Ward of Benton.

Returns from 945 precincts gave Stratton 29,701, Wright 8,399, Daly 2,733, Polley 1,811 and Ward 1,529.

Herbert C. Paschen, Cook County treasurer, backed by the Democratic organization, held a lead over Morris B. Sachs, Chicago's city treasurer, in the contest for governor.

Returns from 1,652 precincts gave Paschen 123,543 and Sachs 73,224.

Four hours after the polls closed the Democratic ballots were being counted at a faster clip than the Republican ballots in the preference test. There was no explanation. But the GOP ballot carried three names and the Democratic only one—Stevenson's.

Each major party chose 50 unpledged delegates to the nominating conventions. The others—Republicans with 10 votes and Democrats with 14—will be selected later in state conventions.

Virtually all of the GOP delegates were expected to support Eisenhower. Of the Democratic candidates for delegate places, 23 have identified themselves as Stevenson supporters, three favor Kefauver and the others are open minded or close-mouthed.

Stevenson's lead in the preference test was not unexpected. He was the only Republican to carry a majority of the counties in the state.

Dulles Reviews Middle East With Congress

WASHINGTON, April 10 (P)—Secretary of State Dulles paved the way today for a possible request that Congress give President Eisenhower blank check authority to use American troops in the Middle East if war dangers become acute there.

The secretary, keeping in close touch with Eisenhower, met for 1½ hours with 14 key members of Congress at the State Department. Eight were Republicans and six were Democrats.

Tense

He reviewed with them the tense Middle East situation made even more serious by new Arab-Israeli bloodshed. It was reported that he skirted—but did not directly raise—the question of asking Congress for a Formosa-type resolution.

The White House announced Eisenhower will make a major foreign policy address on April 21. It will be delivered in Washington before the American Society of Newspaper Editors and presumably will cover the Middle East crisis.

Focal point of Dulles' consultation with the congressional leaders was yesterday's White House statement that any aggressor in the Middle East will have to reckon with U. S. opposition.

Lackawaxen Flood Study In Advance

Philadelphia, April 10 (P)—An accelerated study of flood control problems in the Lackawaxen River watershed is being undertaken in advance of the comprehensive study of the entire Delaware River area, the U. S. Army Engineers district office announced today.

Col. Allen F. Clark Jr., district engineer, said the overall study is expected to take three years to complete. The accelerated study of the Lackawaxen will be finished by early 1958, with a preliminary report by June, 1956, Col. Clark said.

Study

The accelerated study is being handled by the New York engineering firm of Tripette, Abbott, McCarthy and Stratton.

Col. Allen said the preliminary study is being made primarily to develop feasible plans for the protection of the Hawley (Pa.) area from floods on Middle Creek and the Lackawaxen.

The Army Engineers will not start any work, however, until the final detailed report has been completed and the project approved by Congress.

White Men Attack Nat King Cole

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 10 (P)—Nat King Cole, Negro band leader, was attacked by a group of white men tonight as he sang from the stage of Birmingham's Municipal Auditorium.

Cole was singing the second of two numbers in a concert billed for "all-white" customers. He was to give a second concert later for Negro patrons in segregated Birmingham.

ESSTC Student Upsets Car On Foxtown Hill

A 23-YEAR-OLD student at the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College escaped injury early yesterday morning when his car overturned on Foxtown Hill.

Stroudsburg State Police said Russell Schellhammer, 23, of Palmerton, was traveling south on Foxtown Hill about 12:05 a.m. when something suddenly went wrong with the steering mechanism of the auto.

The car veered to the left, struck an embankment and overturned, troopers said. Damage was estimated at $150.

New Time For Liquor Outlets

HARRISBURG, April 10 (P)—The Liquor Control Board ruled today that retail liquor outlets must observe Eastern Standard Time when Daylight Saving Time goes into effect on Sunday, April 29.

The ruling in effect gave taverns and taprooms an additional hour at night to keep open. But they must open up an hour later in the morning.

"The effect of the board's actions is to achieve conformity with the official time of the Commonwealth," said Chairman Patrick E. Kerwin.

Official

The state operates officially on standard time during the summer months, but actually observes daylight time by advancing the work day by one hour.

Until this year, retail liquor dealers were permitted to operate during the summer months on the time system in effect in their community, either standard or daylight time.

The liquor code fixes hours of retail dealers as 7 a.m. to 2 a.m., Monday through Friday and 7 a.m. until midnight, Saturday.

Week-Long War Drill

WASHINGTON, April 10 (P)—A week-long war drill in July will test America's readiness to meet a swift and far-ranging nuclear assault on scores of cities, air bases and atomic installations.

The Office of Defense Mobilization announced today an "Operation Alert 1956" will be held July 20-26 on almost a continental scale.

Canada will participate in the simulated emergency, which will see President Eisenhower and key government personnel evacuating Washington for secret relocation sites.

Five Prisoners Make Escape

YORK, Pa., April 10 (P)—Five prisoners overpowered an unarmed 70-year-old guard and escaped today from the York County Prison in an automobile police said was stolen.

State police said the men, ranging in ages from 20 to 51, were believed headed south in a sedan they said was stolen from a lot a few blocks from the downtown York prison.

Senate Approves Plan To Increase State Road Aid

HARRISBURG, April 10 (P)—The Senate today approved an oft-amended plan to increase state aid for local roads from 18 million dollars a year to 30 millions.

Not a word of debate preceded the 47-0 vote. The administration-backed measure went back to the House for agreement on a series of Senate amendments. The House is expected to go slow on concurrence.

The most important change wrought by the Senate was increasing the ratio of distribution to give rural areas a better break than cities.

Mileage

As passed by the House, 55 per cent of the money would be allocated on the basis of mileage and 45 per cent on population. The Senate revised that to 60-40, thereby cutting back proposed aid to cities.

Under the legislation, the formula would become permanent. In the past, the allocations were made on a year-to-year basis.

Gov. Leader, in calling for boosted state aid for local roads last September, declared: "We propose to make municipalities full partners in the work of maintaining the traffic arteries of Pennsylvania with a recognized degree of both responsibility and participation."

WHAT DO YOU MEAN, "JUST FACE LIFTING"?

EVERY NOW AND THEN, we run across someone who seems to think that 1956 cars do not offer anything really new—just a little face lifting from the year before.

We won't try to speak for the automobile industry. But we certainly can speak for Buick.

And let us announce in no uncertain terms—it's the newest thing on wheels.

The Styling is New

Sure, it looks like a Buick. But it has a new V-proved grille that says 1956 and no mistake. The hood's new—the fender ports are new—the sweep-spear is new—and it all adds up to a new sweep-ahead look that ends in a sassy new slant to the rear contours.

But that, friends, is only the beginning.

The 1956 Dynaflo* is New

It introduces what the engineers call "double regeneration"—which means a double-action take-off. It gives you new, split-second response in the first inch of pedal travel—plus the "switch the pitch" at full acceleration, which no one else has yet approached.

The Ride is New

To coil springs on all four wheels, a brawny X-braced frame, and torque-tube drive, the engineers have added deep-oil shock absorbers to give new softness, new buoyancy, new comfort, and a brand-new "sense of direction" handling response.

The Power is New

All 1956 Buicks have new 322-cubic-inch V8's—with record highs in power and compression—with unique new double "Y" manifold to step up efficiency—with new carburetor "deicing"

—and a host of other new features to make owning a Buick pure pleasure.

The Thrill is New

And the surest way for you to find out how right we are, is to sample a 1956 Buick yourself.

As we said before, this is the best Buick yet—by a wide measure—and when you learn the prices we're quoting, you'll know why this Buick is one of the three best sellers in today's market.

It takes a lot more than face lifting to produce such a winner as this.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick built today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Resica Boy Scout Camp To Be Dedicated Sunday Afternoon

National, Area Officials To Be Present

ONE OF AMERICA'S largest Boy Scout camps will be dedicated Sunday in the heart of the Pocono Mountains, 12 miles northeast of Stroudsburg, Roger S. Firestone, chairman of the Boy Scout Camp Development Fund, announced yesterday.

President Eisenhower, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the FBI, Gov. George M. Leader of Pennsylvania, and thousands of Scout Leaders, and civic and governmental leaders from the Philadelphia area and Monroe County, in which the camp is located, have been invited to attend the ceremonies formally opening the 4,100-acre Resica Falls Scout Reservation.

When the six separate camps which will make up the huge camping area are constructed, 1,500 boys at a time will be accommodated in a forest covered region which Scout authorities describe as "an unspoiled out-of-doors wonderland without parallel in Eastern United States."

Development
Development of the camp is the prime objective of a $3,022,000 fund drive of the Scout's Philadelphia and Valley Forge Councils, which will operate it jointly for a rapidly growing boy population in Philadelphia and suburban Montgomery and Delaware Counties. The first large scale fund drive ever undertaken by the United Community Fund sanctioned campaign already has realized more than $1,000,000, and is scheduled to continue into June, according to Firestone.

Firestone, who is also president of the Valley Forge Council, and J. Harry LaBum, president of the Philadelphia Council, will head the Philadelphia Scout delegation at the ceremonies, which will get underway at 3 p. m. at the Reservation's headquarters. The camp will be opened, however, to the public for inspection from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. on Sunday.

John Curtin Jr., president of the Warner Co., chairman of the Joint Camp Federation which will operate the camp, also was scheduled to take part in the ceremonies, but was hospitalized last week and will be unable to attend, it was announced.

County Officials
Among the 32 Monroe County officials who will take part in the ceremony will be Judge Fred W. Davis, of Monroe County Common Pleas Court, H. Hal Harris, Mayor of Stroudsburg; Jesse Flory, Chief Burgess of East Stroudsburg; John R. Lesoine, County Commissioner; and John Litts, County Superintendent of Schools. Judge Davis will extend the formal welcome on behalf of Monroe County.

John Doering, Erie Dedication Chairman, will act as master of ceremonies at the dedication.

Directors Of YMCA Approve Budget

ACTIVITIES IN the Monroe County YMCA and its branches in Barrett Township and Mount Pocono were in high gear during the past month according to reports submitted at the meeting last night. J. Albert Groner, president, was in charge.

Groner thanked Alexander L. Bensinger and the committee in charge of the annual meeting, which the former was unable to attend.

The budget for 1956 was submitted by J. L. Cohen, chairman of the finance committee, and approved.

Announcement was made that a check for $30,000 had been received during the past month from the Kresge Foundation. There is still $20,000 due from that source, it was stated.

The building fund report was presented by General Secretary John R. Wilson for Roy M. Houser, the treasurer.

Secretary Wilson reported 43 membership activities in the Y during the past month and also meetings of 17 other groups during that period. Public speaking course was reported progressing and women's gym and swim program working satisfactorily. The Gold Medal basketball tournament was successful and the gym exhibition last Friday night in which many young people participated, proved successful.

Examination
Examination by experts of the water in the swimming pool was termed "good enough to drink."

C. C. Chopp, in charge of youth work, in his report told 935 youngsters attended 244 sessions with 6,119 boys and girls participating.

The architects recommended payment of $500 to H. L. Cleveland, plumber, and it was approved.

Rev. Harold N. McMurray, speaking for the Barrett branch, told of the proposed installation of an outdoor basketball court for use the coming summer. In order to make this possible some extra work was necessary. He stated that some $600 had been raised for the establishment of the court and it was estimated that between $800 and $900 more was necessary. The local board recommended that plans for furnishing the money be made, to be repaid through various activities. The matter will be taken up by the Barrett board at its next meeting and report be submitted to the local board.

Berne Cramer, reporting for the Mount Pocono branch, told of activities and also the cooperation received from the Tobyhanna Signal Depot which was visited recently.

Joseph Kovarik, of the physical committee, told of the action of the committee to secure more time for use of the old gym for general activities. Mrs. Karon Roth has use of the floor for her dancing classes. She had the gym rehabilitated at a cost of some $700 it was stated, and pays $50 a month rental. William McDonnell, athletic director, told of need of the room for athletic activities. A committee will meet with Mrs. Roth to ascertain what arrangements can be made to provide more time for athletics.

The board voted to hold a testimonial dinner honoring S. S. Kresge during the month of June, which will mark its first anniversary on the 5th of that month.

The board directed reinvestment of a $2,000 bond from the Springer estate which is about to expire in U.S. government bonds.

Fish Warden Optimistic About Prospects For Trout Season In Monroe County Streams

By Paul Carlson

WAIT A MINUTE, buddy! Dust off that fly tackle, then run out and get your 1956 license, if you haven't done so yet because the "experts" say it isn't going to be a good fishing season. Don't believe 'em!

State Fish Warden Floyd Bachman is frankly optimistic about fishing prospects this year, despite the damage caused to Monroe County streams by last summer's flood.

"More fish were killed by the draught before the flood," Bachman contends, "than by the flood itself."

"We're going to have a good season," he adds. "The pools are better than ever before."

And Floyd Bachman's got plenty of support for his rose-colored picture.

For example, the State is putting 16 per cent more trout into Monroe County streams this year, compared to the 65,000 or more which were used last season.

Bachman has been carrying out the stocking program for the last few weeks. And he expects six more truckloads of trout to pull into the state highway shed Friday afternoon.

The trucks are expected to bring close to 12,000 browns and rainbows for Brodheads Creek, and a substantial number of trout for McMichael, the fish warden disclosed.

Good news also comes direct from the State Fish Commission offices in Harrisburg, which has just released the first appraisal of damage to Pocono Mountain streams by the flood.

Richard T. Reppert, fisheries manager for the commission's northeast division, reported that 39 streams in the affected six-county area will be stocked with sufficient trout to make up for any loss of fish.

"For most streams," Reppert said, "the number of brooks, browns and rainbows normally assigned for pre-season stocking remains unchanged. In those streams, mid-season releases will likewise be made as heretofore."

"On streams that suffered severe damage," he said, "though the season's normal complement will be maintained, the order will be lighter pre-season stocking and lighter but more frequent stockings as the season progresses."

Reppert's report considered five types of damage caused to streams by last season's floods. This includes (1) ex-posure and erosion of banks (2) removal of bank vegetation (3) removal of bottom-dwelling fish food organisms and bottom vegetation, or their covering over by water-borne sediments (4) widening or diversion of channels and (5) changing of physical nature of the stream beds.

"In some streams all five types of damage are apparent," the report noted. "Few managed to survive the flood waters with less than two types."

The report also makes a breakdown of damage in five degrees—from light to severe. And here's how Monroe County streams shape up according to that breakdown:

Rate 1—Damage slight, restricted to small areas separated by long stretches of undamaged stream: McMichaels, Marshall and Tunkhannock Creeks in Monroe; Pohopoco and Aquishicola in Monroe and Carbon; Bushkill Creek in Monroe and Pike.

Rate 2—Damage moderate, with damaged sections longer and more frequent, making up to half the stream's length: Tobyhanna Creek.

Rate 3—Same as Rate 2, but bottom life much reduced in damaged sections and banks eroded moderately to severely over entire length: Leavitt Branch and Rattlesnake Creeks.

Rate 4—Damage severe, damaged sections making up well over half the stream's length, bank erosion severe over entire length, and channel diverted, divided and generally widened in several locations: Pocono, Swiftwater Creeks and Spruce Mountain Run.

Rate 5—Damage extreme, nearly entire length damaged, channel diverted, divided and widened in many lengthy sections; bottom life sparse and banks severely eroded: Brodhead, Paradise, Buck Hill, Devil's Hole and Mill Creeks.

However, fishermen are hoping that the commission's new stocking program for these damaged streams will help compensate for the damage itself.

Highway Department Should Act Promptly To Replace Route 611 Bridges

Organizations Urged To Support County Authorities In Demands

Monroe County officials are off on the right foot in demanding that something be done to assure a free flow of traffic on Route 611 between Bartonville and Tannersville this Summer.

The Lackawanna Trail is one of the heaviest traveled highways in Pennsylvania during the height of the vacation season. It is the main link between the Scranton area and New York and Philadelphia. As such, it carries a heavy load of automobiles, trucks and buses.

Even now, with the heavy Summer travel season still a few weeks away, traffic backs up frequently on both sides of the detour that carries Route 611 around two washed-out bridges.

That it will be much, much worse a little later on is a certainty. Even if the State Department of Highways were to call immediately for bids on constructing new bridges, the chances for early relief would be slim.

One possible bright spot is being explored by County Commissioners John R. Lesoine and Willard Quick and County Engineer Edward C. Hess. They propose that the state make temporary repairs at the site of the two bridges for use by south-bound traffic. As suggested, this plan would permit construction of new bridges without interruption of either work or traffic. North-bound travel would have exclusive right to use the present, two-lane detour.

Route 611 in the vicinity of Bartonville is a three-lane highway. The bottleneck that is created by the narrow detour makes for a dangerous condition that already has resulted in a number of accidents, including a fatal one.

Almost eight months have passed since the bridges were destroyed by the August 18 flood. Monroe County suffered by far the greatest loss to highways and bridges of any county in the state. Shortly after the flood, the state levied one cent a gallon tax on gasoline to raise an estimated $45,000,000 for repair of bridges and highways washed out by the high water. Although the state has been collecting this tax since October 1, there is little evidence to indicate that Monroe County can expect early action on new bridges.

Can it be that the money is going to one or more of the adjoining counties that were hit by the flood? Surely Route 611 should not be relegated to a secondary position, but should rate attention in any highway-bridge building program.

Commissioner Lesoine said "State officials have given us little hope that the permanent bridges will be built this Summer," even though he understood that plans for the two spans have been in Harrisburg "for the last four to six weeks."

The question that arises is "Why?" Does the fact that Monroe is a small county, with a comparatively small voter registration, make it any less important in official eyes than a large county, such as Lackawanna, for example?

Who decides what work is to be done and what is to be left undone? And does this arrangement meet with the approval of the state secretary of highways?

These, and other questions, will be asked today when County Commissioners Lesoine, Quick and Adolph Rake and Mr. Hess go to Allentown to meet with Edwin J. Greenwald, acting district engineer for the Highway Department.

There should be no let-up of pressure on state authorities to bring about prompt steps for repair of flood damage.

The Daily Record feels that the Pocono Mountains Motor Club, Vacation Bureau, Chamber of Commerce and other groups should be active participants in this drive to obtain speedy restoration of bridges and highways. No delays should be countenanced.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Columnist Describes 'Marty' As Realistic Portrayal Of One Phase Of American Life

I do not go in for movies much, having long ago decided that I am familiar with adultery in its various phases and require no further instruction. But the wife insisted that I must see "Marty" because the characters in it reminded her of my relatives.

If ever a motion picture was a realistic portrayal of a phase of American life, this one is. Actually most of the street scenes were taken where I lived during a part of my boyhood. So I felt perfectly at home and every character was known to me all my life.

This is a story about decent, honest-living, ambitious, hopeful Americans who do their day's work and who are alien to such a picture as "Marty," which had an actress emoting sexually for so many feet of film that she, herself, got tired of it and decided to go home.

Well, do I remember the "What shall we do tonight?" argument. In my day, there were fewer places to go to. Movies were a rarity. So we generally ended up in somebody's house and somebody played the piano and we sang all the old songs, most of which were then new, and maybe we went out for some cold meats or frankfurters and we had ourselves a party. Was it so bad?

Or maybe we got into an argument, if there were any intellectual tiffs around. I remember Shav Havelsky, Ellis, Kropotkin, Marx or even just plain guys like William Howard Taft or Woodrow Wilson. Young intellectuals can always start an argument, but who needs to finish one? Some of our debates were 4,000 years old or longer, like if God is so good, why did He make rattlesnakes?

There used to be two or three dancing places in my time, like the one in "Marty." One was a picnic ground at Clason Point, if I spell it right. The place has disappeared and now is all settled with small houses that crowd each other like we used to crowd on the dance floor. It was the days of the "Bunny Hug" and other forms of exhibitionism but no harm was done and when a fellow married a girl, they stayed married and produced a family which is more than can be said for the fancy elopements arranged nowadays by press agents.

"Marty" reminded me of that wonderful world which apparently has continued to exist in Paddy Chayefsky's day as it did in my youth. Chayefsky, I do not know but I honor him not only for his genius but for not changing his name to some idiotic alliteration like Chayshay, for it is the coward who runs away from the facts of life and a name is a fact. Curiously that is what Marty is saying all through that picture: he is what he is. It would seem that Ernest Borgnine, who is now a famous man because of "Marty," in his private person, is also like that and I thrilled to the fact that when not knowing exactly what to say, he thanked his mother for his career rather than somebody who came from Brooklyn, changed his name, became a great man in Hollywood and exerts his pound of flesh not in dollars but in adulation.

Any female can be taught to alight and to simulate passion, but only a sincere person can play such a part as Marty's mother because not only must she sympathize with the role, but she must understand it. When Marty's mother asks if his girl is Italian, she raises a question which can be heard in a thousand homes every day when a child is about to marry "out," as the expression is. And nowhere is it liked, not because of prejudice or hatred but because such differences can make for difficulties. "Who buys Italian meat these days? She buys a lamp chow wrapped in cellophane." That is exactly what can cause trouble because most of us are what we are brought up to be and even if you eat five times a week at the Colony, the Pavilion, Luchow's or any other fancy restaurant, at least twice a week you want to relax, over-eating the way mother cooked it and getting indigestion thereby.

such tremendous debt today.

Most people today are so far removed from God that they don't realize that God set definite laws in motion—invisible, yet inexorable laws, which regulate our personal economic conditions.

A knowledge of these laws would teach us to recognize the right value of money and would give us life-long financial security!

Out of the 14 per cent of the national income after taxes, 99.97 per cent did not go to God for His work! For God received only 3/100 of 1% of all the money spent for religious and welfare work. The remainder was given to organizations and worldly institutions masquerading as churches and the work of God.

Is it any wonder that we still owe God a debt of $30 billion for last year alone?

And believe me, He's going to start collecting that debt. We have all forgotten that our first debt is to God, because He is the very last one we want to pay. So, my friends, isn't it about time we wake up and come to our senses, and start paying our overdue debt to God, your Father, for whom you owe so very much, yet, have given so very, very little?

Sincerely yours,
Kenne Kaye

Manners Of Polite Past Proper Subject To Discuss

"I like the Americans," wrote Thackeray from the Continent to a friend over here, "but I could have wished that all of the five who sat opposite me at dinner today had not put their knives in their mouths."

Ah, yes, that well-mannered era wasn't all please and thank-you. Placards in public rooms warned: "Gentlemen without ladies are requested not to occupy seats in this saloon while ladies stand." "Passengers are requested not to put their feet upon the (velvet-covered) seats." "Guests are requested not to spit upon the carpets."

A writer in Scribner's Monthly for December, 1872, complained that a "statesman of ability and courtesy in debate, leans back in his chair after the repast—and picks his teeth with his penknife." Another host "liberally educated and courtly in address, while he quoted Plato and Cervantes and the views of foreign courts and potentates—munched an artichoke, pulling it into bits with his greasy fingers, dipping each fragment into a coat of melted butter intended for general use."

(Been reading those 100 Great Books, we guess.) Young lovers used art galleries for their trysts, a vexatious trial to our commentators. "If idyllic young people could but refrain from making a flirtation-corner of those delightful lounges! Think of making eyes in presence of the 'Sistine' or whispering sweet nothings before the silent ecstasy of the 'Mutilo.' Shall we ever forget our awkward consciousness and half-guilty embarrassment the other afternoon, striving to get at the inner sweetness of Bouguereau's lovely group, yet forced to play an unwilling eaves-dropper to the insipid tenderness which Romeo was pouring into Juliet's ear, right in our line of vision, and taking up the only available spot of view!"

Tch! The chairs didn't suit him, either. "There is no such thing as resigning one's self to their support—it was not intended and is impossible. And the seats are always too small or too hard or too peaked or too slippery to allow of any considerations of comfort. . . . But if the chairs were easier people might stay too long! After all there is something in this consideration. . . . Ah, yes. Don't discount those chairs to speed the parting guest. They make 'em much too comfy nowadays."

Pocono Personalities

By John F. Hill

Francis Shinn . . . Campaign Expediter

Francis (Fran) Shinn, who functioned as the "sparkplug" in four recent fund campaigns in Monroe County, explains his interest in health and welfare drives in simple terms . . .

"These organizations (Community Chest, Tuberculosis Society, YMCA and Red Cross) are integral parts of this community. . . . They must succeed in their fund-raising efforts if our area is to elevate its standards and remain the fine place it has been for years . . . with a minimum of crime and slums . . . and with its thousands of fine people . . ."

For many years a solid booster for the Pocono Mountains resort industry, Fran turned his volunteer labors toward agency drives after last August's flood because of his own personal experience in a disaster. . . . About six years ago, fire destroyed his home. . . . He and his family lost all of their possessions . . .

By steady plugging, he was able to stage a comeback. . . . Through it all, he learned one principle—the farther away from the shock of a disaster one can get, the better chance he has for recovery. . . . Applying this on a wider level, Fran felt the real test would come when the community faced up to its fund drives. . . . So he pitched in with both hands (and plenty of unusual ideas) to help assure each campaign's success. . . .

A driver or expediter rather than a campaign leader, Shinn's role has been to help in organizing workers, engender enthusiasm, spot weaknesses and coordinate all phases of the work. . . . Only a veritable hall of energy such as Fran could have withstood the rigors of four difficult drives—each of which raised more money than was brought in the previous year.

Organizations for which he has worked in past promotions include Chamber of Commerce, Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau, Eastern Poconos Assn. . . .

Born at Echo Lake, he is the son of a former engineer who came to this region on horseback from Philadelphia in 1880s. . . . Father purchased large Echo Lake tract, developed thousands of trees and developed the property. . . . Opened cottage colony in 1919, one of first resorts in Poconos. . . .

After World War Two, he made number of major changes and named new resort Vacation Valley. . . . Operation now under control of Fran and brother, Jack. . . .

Ostrom To Celebrate Two Events

By Jim Riley

Tomorrow is a big day in the Mr. and Mrs. Merle C. Ostrom household and also here at The Daily Record.

Merle will be 61 years young on that date and will have completed a half-century in the newspaper business.

Mr. Ostrom is now Assistant Publisher and Vice President of The Daily Record, a height he has reached after working in and around every department known to newspapermen.

Merle first was bitten by the "ink bug" when he was 17 years old. It was natural that he should lean toward the newspaper profession, as his father and uncle shared ownership of the Olean, N. Y. Herald at that time.

He first went to work in the stereotype and mailing room departments. Shortly thereafter he became a reporter for three years and then city editor for 36 more months.

Mr. Ostrom has compiled 13 years of mechanical experience, in all branches of printing. He carried a union card in his own family's printing plant. He still owns an ITU withdrawal card taken out in April of 1926.

In 1917 Merle's father purchased sole ownership of the Olean Herald. Fire hit the plant in the same year. The Ostrom family sold the Herald in 1924. Merle moved over to the rival Olean Times in 1925 and departed in October of 1928 to become national advertising and promotion manager for the Binghamton Press. He remained in that position for 18 years prior to coming to The Daily Record as business manager in September 9, 1946. He was named general manager a short time later.

Since coming to Stroudsburg Merle has served as president of the Chamber of Commerce, is now on the Monroe County General Hospital Board and the YMCA Board and was a director of the now defunct Stroudsburg Poconos and also served on the Board of Public Assistance.

The Ostroms attend the First Presbyterian Church of Stroudsburg.

This column wishes to join with his many friends in wishing Merle a happy birthday and many more in the future.

Kivans Club, of which he is a member, undoubtedly will let loose with a chorus of Happy Birthday during tomorrow's meeting.

Here's one guy who has witnessed a countless number of changes in the newspaper profession.

In England the owner offers to give his windmill to anyone who'll cart it away. Zadok Dumkopf asks, why not attach a motor and fly it away?

A New Yorker was arrested for tossing a huge pizza pie out of an auto window. Probably caused another flying saucer scare.

To the average baseball fan the search for Bridget Murphy is nothing compared to the hunt for a rookie who can hit .300 and keep it up.

The mayor of Manila, the Philippines, asks that excessive car horn blowers be jailed. Wants to turn the cooler into a real hoots-gow?

A New York railroad station is installing an electronic brain which will give space available information up to seven months in advance. Who knows where they'll want to be headed a half-year from now?

What commuters really need is an electronic voice which will demand the engineer of the 5:15 stay put until the customers can catch it.

Another boon would be an electric alarm clock which would eject us from the feathers in time to catch the office-bound 8:12 each a.m.

An electronic reservation clerk would never work for the theater. You can imagine the answer: "Clickety-click! Tenth row center? Two on the aisle? Saturday night? Tik! Tik! Get lost! Clickety-click."

COOK ELECTRICALLY

IT'S white glove CLEAN

AUTOMATICALLY-CONTROLLED SURFACE COOKING UNITS. A homemaker can read or go about other tasks even while cooking on her surface units with this big new 1956 range. Worry over scorching or burning of foods cooking on the surface is eliminated as the thermostat controls prevent either over or under-heating. The controls are marked for various cooking operations and even difficult sauces such as Hollandaise can be prepared with no concern about over-heating.

GLAMOROUS BUILT-INS. Ovens in the wall at easy-to-reach table-top height, continue to make big news. From both standpoints of convenience and beauty they're winning marked interest not only among new home builders but wherever remodeling's under consideration. The oven model here has a 24-inch oven with a "look-in" glass panel in the door and a light inside so that the user may see inside without opening the door. To the right are four detachable surface cooking units set into a counter surface of easy-to-clean stainless steel.

BUILT-IN RANGES SALES RISING

Will the built-in electric range replace conventional electric ranges in the near future? Do the flexibility and convenience of built-in ranges offset the many features of conventional ranges?

These are commonly asked questions now that built-in ovens and electric ranges are gaining popularity. Leading appliance manufacturers don't have all the answers, but they are attempting to find them through surveys, test installations and interviews with consumer panels.

FULL LINES OF BUILT-INS

The growing popularity of built-in or modular electric ranges can be seen in the fact that a number of the largest electric range producers are now mass producing these units, believing that both standard and built-in ranges have a place in the market.

The trend toward larger and more comfortable "living" kitchens is definitely a point in favor of the custom built-in installation. In addition, many modern housewives prefer an oven at eye level to prevent stooping and bending.

The old proverb that "history repeats itself" could well be dusted off again because the ultra-modern American kitchen resembles more than anything else the multi-purpose room of pioneer days.

PERSONALIZED KITCHENS

New custom range sections can be purchased in any combination and installed in new and remodeled kitchens to give each housewife a "personalized" kitchen, custom-tailored to her individual needs and likes. Depending on her preference, ovens and surface cook units can be conveniently grouped together or separately installed with the surface section.

The return to the idea of early American kitchens with brick interiors, fireplaces and dining areas has definitely boosted the popularity of built-in ranges. Shortly after the war, ovens installed at eye level were a novel feature in unusual kitchens, particularly on the West coast. Today the custom appeal that such an installation gives a kitchen is catching on all over the country.

Several surface unit arrangements are now available, making possible the greatest flexibility that kitchen planning experts have had. The units can be across the room from the oven. They can be in a straight line of two, four, six or more, or the same as always—two in back and two in front.

SPACIOUS STORAGE AREAS

Underneath the surface units the housewife has a spacious storage cabinet for large items such as pots and pans. This is also true of the oven, which has deep storage space above as well as below.

Especially appealing to the woman is the cleanliness which these separate units make possible because the sink and counter tops can be made all in one piece. The electric surface units can be set in the tops wherever it is most convenient to the kitchen plan.

Much to be said for conventional ranges both in standard widths and the increasingly popular 30-inch models. While these models may sometimes cost more than the built-in units, they provide such additional features as built-in rotisseries, french fryers and griddles.

COLORFUL KITCHENS

Although surveys show that most women prefer white appliances in their kitchen, there is growing preference for colors in finish and metal trim. The newest built-in ranges can be had in interesting color combinations, in stainless steel in brushed chrome and copper trim.

Electric Ranges Heat Food, Not Kitchen, Government Tests Show

Kitchens stay 8 to 16 degrees cooler, when you cook electrically, than with any other type of cooking. These findings come from a series of tests conducted by the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics of the U. S. Bureau of Agriculture as reported in Technical Bulletin No. 1073. (For those homemakers with memories of overheated summer afternoons cooking with old-fashioned ranges that's a piece of news to brighten your summer outlook.)

This means you would have to melt 3,620 pounds of ice in the kitchen every 24 hours, while cooking with non-electric methods, to reduce kitchen temperatures to the same cool levels maintained when you cook electrically.

Less Heat Wasted

The fact that a cool kitchen is a more comfortable kitchen is only one benefit. Actually, just as important on a year 'round basis is the fact that so little heat is wasted when you cook electrically.

For the millions of families planning to install air conditioning units, the coolness of electric cooking is important for still another reason. Extensive tests conducted by a famous manufacturer's research team have shown that families cooking electrically can get the same cooling results with air conditioning units that are 1/2 h.p. smaller than would be needed if another type range were used. That means lower initial cost, and of course, lower operating costs. Reasons for these lower temperature levels with an electric range are simple:

"Wire-On-Time" Plan Finance Cost of Appliance Wiring

It has become more and more evident in recent years that in the majority of cases, inadequate home wiring is keeping millions of American families from the full enjoyment of electric living.

As is true of almost all other home improvements, a plan is now available here in Central Eastern Pennsylvania whereby the wiring installation costs of certain major electrical appliances can be financed.

PP&L OFFERS PLAN

The plan is Pennsylvania Power & Light Company's "Wire on Time" plan. It covers financing of all major home wiring improvements from the end of PP&L's facilities at the house to the point of appliance connection. Also included under the plan are new 230 volt service entrances.

NO DOWN PAYMENT

The "Wire on Time" plan is available to all residences served by Pennsylvania Power & Light Company, and it works this way. It covers financing of all major home wiring improvements made anywhere in the wiring system from the end of PP&L's facilities at the house to the point of appliance connection, such as the range or water heater or dishwasher. The Company, in turn, notifies the customer of acceptance and furnishes him with a note form. The customer then arranges with a wiring contractor to install the appliance. On completion of the work, the customer fills out and signs the note, gives it to the contractor in return for a receipted bill. The contractor endorses PP&L, then pays the contractor. The note and submits it to PP&L. No down payment is needed and the customer makes only small monthly payments, as little as $1.00 a month, over as long a period as three years. The plan is available on sums from $25 to $150.00.

In addition to this PP&L plan, financing of both large-scale and small-scale home improvements, including rewiring, can be obtained through many area banks.

Electric Ranges Pass "White Glove" Test

Electric cooking has eliminated the grime or soot deposits that occur when homemakers use old-fashioned cooking methods. Since heating surfaces on an electric range produce no smoke or soot, ceilings, woodwork, curtains and draperies remain bright and clean much longer.

POT-SCRUBBING ENDS

To prove the cleanliness of electric cooking, homemakers are being urged to try the "white-glove" test. In this convincing test, a white glove is rubbed over the outer surface of pots and pans that have just been used on an electric range. The glove comes away as clean as before the cooking was begun. To the homemaker, this means the elimination of one of the hardest jobs in the whole kitchen management process... scrubbing outer surfaces of pots and pans.

A comparison of the electric lamp bulb with electric range heating elements, explains the cleanliness feature of electric cooking. Electric lamp bulbs are quite similar to the surface units on the electric range. In the lamp bulb, however, the heating wire is enclosed in glass. In the electric range, it is enclosed in metal. There is no flame and thus there is no soot or smoke. Further, there are no openings in the surface units to become clogged.

LESS MAINTENANCE COST

Such unmatched cleanliness may well serve to reduce the time spent cleaning the kitchen and to reduce the number of times kitchens have to be repainted or redecorated.

...and an Electric Range Too!

The bride whose meals from the very start are cooked electrically is already on the right path to her man's heart. For there's a lot of truth in the statement that the path to a man's heart is through his tummy. And electric cooking assures that his and her favorite recipes will be done to a "Tee." Every bride... and bridegroom... deserves the best... a lifetime of modern, easy cooking. And the best, of course, is a clean, cool easy-to-use automatic electric range.

now that his wife has the electric range she's wanted for so long. Why? Well, first, he's eating better, of course. But, he's mighty pleased with the economy of electric cooking, too. He knows that flameless electric cooking will leave walls, drapes and curtains unsoiled for much longer periods of time. That means less expense of cleaning, re-painting, re-decorating. He knows now, from experience, that there is less shrinkage in electric cooking. That means his foods go further. On top of that, he's learned once again that, job for job, electricity is the cheapest yet most efficient servant in any home.

Electric Ranges Last Many Years With Good Care

An electric range will give many, many years of the finest kind of cooking service. But, like any other piece of valuable equipment it will give extra years of service in proportion to the care given it. A few minutes' attention every so often will keep it in top condition. Here are a few simple suggestions for electric range care that will pay dividends in added performance.

TOP OF RANGE:

All switches should be off and the range cool before cleaning. Wash enamel parts with warm, soapy water, rinse and dry. To prevent stains, wipe up spilled food immediately. Clean chrome-plated parts with soap and water. If discolored, use mild abrasive.

SURFACE UNITS:

Food spillage will not injure the surface heating units. Any food that boils over will drip through to the pan under the heating unit—or if caught on the unit will be burned off. The drip pan is directly below the heating units and should be removed frequently for cleaning. Lift unit after each use and wipe around edges. Drip pans should be cleaned after the units have cooled.

DEEP WELL COOKER:

Wipe the well with a cloth wrung from soapy water, then wipe dry. Lift the well to clean the edges. Wash cooker kettle thoroughly with soap and water and remove stains with mild abrasive or steel wool. Wipe cooker dry after each cleaning. Leave lid ajar when not in use.

OVEN:

Any spilled foods or grease left in the oven from one day to the next will cause smoke and odors and will become burned on and difficult to remove. So clean as soon as possible after spillage occurs.

Oven should be cold and switches turned OFF before cleaning. Remove oven racks and upper and lower units if possible. Wipe oven with a cloth wrung from soapy water. Use a mild abrasive if necessary. Scrub oven racks with a stiff brush. To clean oven or broiler pan which has been discolored, use soapy water to which a bit of household ammonia has been added. Scrub with a stiff brush. If food has boiled over in oven and is difficult to remove, soak with cloth saturated in soapy ammonia water.

VA Issues New Home Regulations

AN IMPORTANT step towards stricter compliance with Minimum Property Requirements in the GI home loan program was taken today by the Veterans Administration.

VA said it has instructed each regional office manager to appoint a qualified VA construction analyst to make sure fee compliance inspectors are carrying out their assignments of assuring that builders are conforming to plans and specifications and VA Minimum Property Requirements.

These supervising construction analysts will have the primary duties of:

1. Making on-site inspections of properties constructed or in the process of construction for which VA has received appraisal requests and which are or have been subject to either VA inspections or Federal Housing Administration supervision.

2. Reporting on the timeliness, effectiveness, accuracy and completeness and all other aspects of performance by each VA Compliance Inspector, including any irregular relationships with builders, sponsors, or others and any evidence of improper conduct bearing on performance.

3. Determining and reporting adequacy and quality of the exhibits against which each Compliance Inspector measures the degree of compliance and the quality of as-built construction at the various stages.

4. Evaluating and reporting on the adequacy and effectiveness of supervision by the builder in each particular case.

VA emphasized that, under the law, compliance with its Minimum Property Requirements is mandatory. VA's minimum requirements are the same as those of FHA.

VA's fee Compliance Inspectors are not Government employees. They are private contractors who inspect construction under the GI home loan program.

New Surfacing For Walls Found

MANY HOME remodeling fans are discovering a new and difficult wall surfacing which has elegance and beauty but costs no more than regular wall panelling. It is vertical grain flooring, either fir or west coast hemlock, and because of the tongue-and-groove is easy to install snugly.

You can change the appearance of a room by building one or two walls with this flooring which can be bought at any retail lumber yard. It can be buffed and sanded smooth, then finished in any of many wonderful ways.

Plaster Tones Down Noise

GYPSUM acoustical plaster is one of the latest developments for toning down noise in kitchens and recreation rooms. It has a fine-grained texture finish but its cellular structure absorbs sound waves much like a sponge takes up water. It's a ready-mixed plaster and a minimum thickness of a half-inch is recommended in place of the usual finish coat for ceilings.

Instructions On Sawing

DON'T CUT OR trim boards separately when you want to join them together for a large flat surface, advises the American Builder, trade journal.

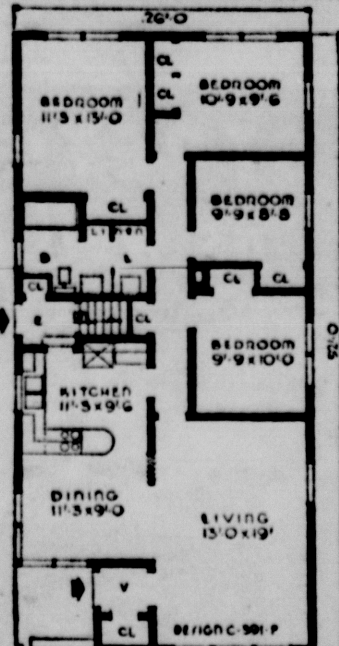

Place the boards together and nail wood strips across the ends. Set a fine-tooth circular saw blade to cut right through the crack of the proposed joint.

Warning On Fence

GOING TO fence in your yard? You'd better be sure to erect that fence on your own side of the property line, if you want to avoid the possibility of serious trouble.

Properly Equipped Porch Can Give Much Enjoyment

A PORCH ON A HOUSE is almost as useless as the appendix in the human body, a designer once said.

Probably the guy had never sat on one on a late summer afternoon and watched the twilight turn into evening. For the front porch is still the favorite relaxing place of millions of American families, and gives them a summer-long vacation right at home. But that vacation won't be as pleasant as it could be if the porch isn't checked now, in advance of its season of greatest use.

Are the roof and the woodwork in good repair, for instance? A leaky roof should be repaired as soon as possible, before ceiling and other surfaces are damaged. Dry rot in wood lets structural members sag and may cause extensive harm.

Floor Important
What about the floor. If it is rotting, replacing it with quarry tile will give a permanent, non-decaying surface.

Is there sufficient light? Often a porch gets little use because it has only one large overhead light. The addition of a couple of baseboard outlets will make it possible to plug in floor lights, so that members of the family can read on the porch in comfort.

Are screens in good condition? Few things make a house look more run down than do old screens. If they need mending, now is the time to do it. If they are beyond repair, have them replaced.

What about the furniture? Maybe this is where the designer who disliked porches comes in. All too often the porch gets furnished with discards from the rest of the house. If that is the case, consider now getting some really good porch furniture and dressing the room up so that you will enjoy it both for family use and for entertaining.

Cement Blocks Used For Sturdy Steps

MOST HOME owners are sadly aware that outside wood steps require constant maintenance, and are expensive things to replace in masonry.

Usually a set of steps will be replaced in brick or a form will be built and filled with concrete to furnish a solid set. Both jobs require a considerable amount of skill on the part of the home owner or a substantial outlay in cash.

Almost any unskilled person can build a substantial set of steps with cement blocks by following these directions:

The first step is to take accurate measurements so that the exact number of steps can be decided upon. Usually, the number of block steps will equal the number of pre-set wood steps, but in some cases the old risers may be less than the height of a block, or the tread of the old steps deeper than the top of a block. Therefore the first essential is to settle upon the correct dimensions. When this is done, it is a good idea to make a rough drawing to follow.

The actual work starts with laying out a plain wood form about four inches high which is filled with concrete and furnishes the slab or the foundation for the blocks. The second step, after the slab has set, is to lay the blocks in regular steps.

Spaces may be left between them, to present any depth from front edge to back desired. The holes in the blocks are filled with wet, wadded paper and plastered over with concrete.

Coach Black Finish

A GOOD FINISH for interior wrought iron is coach black. If you want to give it a dull shine, apply varnish over the coach black after it's dry.

It's Patio Planning Time Now

IT IS patio planning time now. Get your ideas down on paper, for summer building weather will soon be here.

Your patios can be modest or elaborate, large or small. Patios can adjoin the home or be completely separate installations.

Here are a few ideas for simple and inexpensive patios adjoining the home. The simplest is a terrace floor of brick, flagstone or fir two-by-fours just big enough for a few lounging chairs, a bridge table or a snack table. If you use wood, allow for drainage underneath and lay fir two-by-fours with space between each one to let hose water drain away.

Next

Next step is to add a wooden louvered screen to keep off sun glare. Four-by-four posts of fir or cedar will support a simple screen built up of one-by-six or one-by-eight inch boards. Permanent wooden benches with comfortable backs can be installed along one or more sides of the patio floor. Portable barbecues work well or you may have time and money to build your own barbecue pit. Study prevailing winds before you locate it to keep smoke from blowing into guest's faces. Build it to suit your need of the sun—cool or hot.

RECLAIM OLD PAINT BRUSHES

Zimmerman Promoted To Superintendent

WORD has been received here that Neil H. Zimmerman, former resident of Stroudsburg, has received the appointment of plant superintendent at the Southern plant of Line Material Co., Birmingham, Ala. He is to assume his new duties April 15.

Mr. Zimmerman has been affiliated with Line Material Co. some 20 years, having started at the East Stroudsburg plant in the engineering department. He has worked in many different branches of the organization.

Inspector

Since being called to Birmingham in 1950, he has held the position of chief inspector and supervisor of quality control from which he was elevated to the new position of plant superintendent.

Mr. Zimmerman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Zimmerman, former residents of the Stroudsburgs, who now reside at Pittsfield, Mass. His wife is the former Margaret Heller, of East Stroudsburg.

VIVIAN MARLOWE (left), wearing a Dutch costume, and Marianne Olsen, wearing Puritan costume, pose prettily among ornamental greenery arriving aboard the Holland-American motor liner Noordam. The greenery, a gift from the people of Holland to residents of six northeastern states, consists of almost 10,000 young trees and plants which are destined to be planted in parks and public sites of communities which were struck by last year's floods. The gift is a gesture of gratitude for aid given by Americans to the Dutch after their disastrous flood of 1953. A portion of the shipment is marked for East Stroudsburg.

Bible Fellowship Church To Hold Fund Raising Campaign

BIBLE FELLOWSHIP CHURCH of East Stroudsburg has launched a campaign to raise funds for the erection of a new church building on a five acre tract on Franklin Hill.

Rev. Patrick H. Loftus, pastor, said the land was donated to the independent fellowship by Mrs. Mae Vail for construction of a building which would include both a sanctuary and church school rooms.

Meetings

The congregation, composed of some 50 members, now holds regular meetings in a large room at 37 S. Courtland St.

Public contributions for the proposed church building are being received by the pastor at 24 N. Green St., East Stroudsburg.

Kennedy Praises Leader As Governor

ALLENTOWN, Pa., April 10 (AP)—Joseph Kennedy, state secretary of mines, said today labor leaders should be recognized as specialists in economics.

Kennedy addressed some 100 delegates to the state convention of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. He praised Gov. Leader as "the most capable servant ever placed at the head of the state government."

G. Lester Thomas, legislative representative in Pennsylvania for the United Mine Workers, told the delegates that various laws in the state on compensation and occupational diseases now are on the top of the list as far as payments are concerned. He said Pennsylvania payments compared favorably with any other state in the nation.

Thomas also said that only 1,000,000 of the 10,000,000 tons of coal he claimed the federal government had promised to purchase to help the distressed anthracite area had been bought to date. Thomas said the federal promise was made some time ago at Scranton.

OFF MIKE

by Joe Whelan

Now that baseball season is about a fortnight away, you might be interested in knowing about this "Home of Champions" network. The New York Yankees, like all other major league teams in both leagues, have their own operation for the purpose of publicizing the team and the American League. This year there are 34 stations on the Yankee web, making it one of the biggest in baseball. All areas in and around Yankee Stadium, that may have potential diamond enthusiasts, are covered in the set up. Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and Connecticut all have towns carrying Yankee games. There are outlets as far west as St. Mary's, Penna., and as far north as Hartford.

All stations, including WVPO, are fed games through a closed telephone circuit. Everyday an engineer from the home outlet in New York opens the network about an hour before game time. In this manner all stations receive pertinent information relative to the day's transmissions. For instance, we are told weather conditions prevailing in the city where the game is to be played; sponsorship arrangement for the day is revealed; time checks are sent so we might start with synchronization; and last minute changes are sent along. At game time, we should be ready to go.

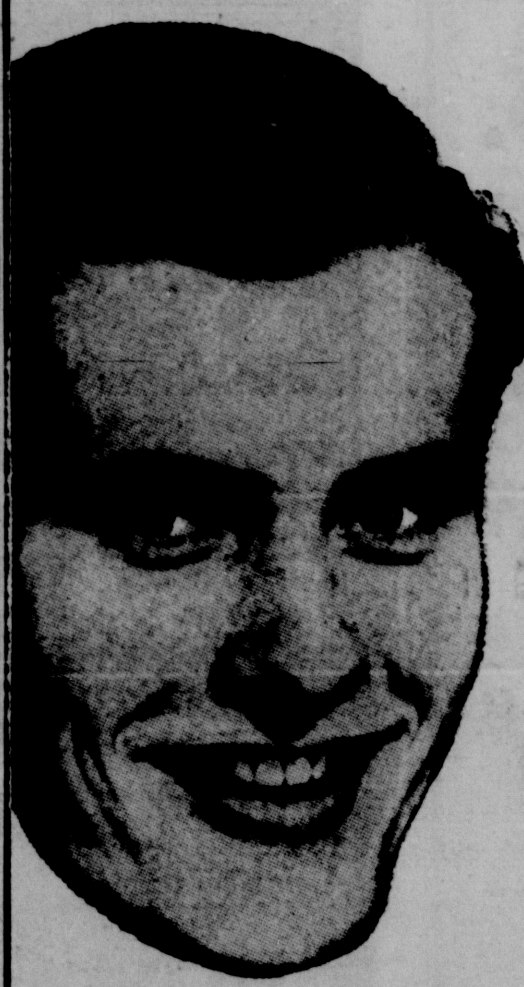

Mel Allen, Jim Woods and Red Barber do all play-by-play. Now, because Ballantine sponsors the whole in New York only, the network has Geoff Davis to handle feed to the outlying stations. Davis sits in a different booth at the stadium and monitors play-by-play. When Atlantic is sponsoring a particular half of any game, he cuts out the local New York commercial and interjects the plug for Atlantic.

that goes over the network. With that arrangement you, listening in Stroudsburg, hear every game sponsored equally by Atlantic and Ballantine. When the Yankees are not scheduled, Geoff Davis works out of a New York office recreating another American League contest. And that, roughly, is the operation of the "Home of Champions" network.

Remember, exhibition games all this week with the regular season getting under way Tuesday, April 17, with the Yankees at Washington.

Wyckoff Treasurer Of NASFM

MORE THAN 75 industry leaders representing 42 companies attended the first annual convention of the newly formed National Association of Store Fixture Manufacturers in Chicago March 22-23. Main feature of the meeting was the formal launching of activities of the group as a full fledged and permanent organization.

The convention opened with a reception and buffet dinner, followed by an address by Joseph T. Meek, President of the Illinois Federation of Retail Associations.

During business sessions, the constitution and by-laws were approved and officers were elected for the year. President of the NASFM is Richard F. Kaufman, Muskegon, Mich. Karl Weber, Los Angeles, was named vice president, and treasurer is William S. Wyckoff, Stroudsburg, Pa. Robert L. Strauss is executive secretary.

A highlight of the meeting was a panel discussion moderated by Mr. Weber, which dealt with the activities and aims of the Association. Panel members were Mr. Wyckoff, Frank Stulik, Chicago, and I. S. Brochstein, Houston, Tex.

Key Points

Key points stressed by the panelists were the need for holding national and regional meetings for the purpose of discussing matters of mutual interest, and the need for maintaining a labor relations service within the industry.

Pointing out the importance of the relationship between manufacturers, suppliers, designers and buyers, the panel suggested that the NASFM make a continuing study aimed towards improving those relationships, and services offered by the industry.

Other objectives of NASFM, as related by panel members, are the need to develop a publicity and public relations program, to promote plans for training industry personnel, and to study the insurance and transportation problems of the industry.

It was brought out that the NASFM home office in Chicago will function as a clearing house for technical information, and that it plans to collect and disseminate industry statistics. It will also conduct surveys and do research on matters pertinent to the industry.

During a general round table conference, members enjoyed a valuable exchange of ideas on such subjects as cost accounting, labor relations, and insurance programs as represented by various segments of the industry, foreshadowing the type of discussion to be programmed by the Association in future meetings.

Joint Meeting Of Boards Set

THERE WILL be a joint meeting of the Stroudsburg Area School Authority and the Stroud Union School Board tonight at 8 at the high school in Stroudsburg. The meeting will be held in Room 8. The Authority is expected to give further—and possibly final—consideration to bids on the school districts million dollar building program.

Pennsylvania Receives New Supply Of Salk Vaccine

HARRISBURG, April 10 (AP)—Dr. Berwyn F. Mattison, State Secretary of Health, announced today the release of 52,533 doses of Salk polio-vaccine to Pennsylvania.

It is the third allocation this month and raises the total number of doses released in March to 285,167—the fourth consecutive month in which there has been an increase in the number of doses released to the State. The March total is 100,000 doses greater than that for February.

"But even with this latest allocation," Dr. Mattison said, "Pennsylvania has not yet received enough vaccine to supply one dose for every child under 15, the priority age group." The Secretary said that one dose of vaccine represents the minimum amount of protection which should be offered to each child.

Dr. Mattison pointed out that:

Figures
There are more than 2,666,942 children under 15 in Pennsylvania, and 338,634 of them have received two doses of vaccine under the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis program. However, for the 2,328,308 other children under 15 Pennsylvania has received only 1,528,537 doses of vaccine.

If this vaccine had been used to give just the first dose to every child there would still be over 700,000 children who have not been started toward protection against polio. It is estimated that probably about 40 per cent of the vaccine has been used to provide two doses for some children. As a result, there still are more than 1,000,000 children who have not received their first dose of vaccine.

The vaccine should be used to provide protection to as many children as possible. Children who have had two doses already should not receive the third or booster dose until all the children who have not yet received their first dose are inoculated.

Arizona had a population gain of 23.8 per cent between April 1, 1950 and July 1, 1954.

Capt. Cole received orders transferring him to his new assignment with the Signal Corps in Korea, reporting for duty in May. He reported to Tohyanna Signal Depot on July 27, 1953. A native of Wabash, Indiana, he attended grade and high school there.

He attended Indiana University where he majored in Business Administration. After leaving school he enlisted in the Army in July 1941 and received his commission as Second Lieutenant in December 1942.

Capt. Cole was awarded a Certificate of Merit by the Stroudsburg Civil Defense for his outstanding services during the August flood.

County Legion Posts To Meet
COUNTY AMERICAN Legion posts will meet tonight at Evans Blitt Post in Canadensis.

The meeting begins at 8 p.m., according to Ed Doney, county Legion commander. Doney urges all posts to send their delegates to the meeting.

BIMONTHLY MEETING of the Monroe County Firemen's Association will be held Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Stroud Township Fire House.

A large attendance is urged in order to make final plans for a county fire school.

Stock Market Shows Quiet Decline

NEW YORK, April 10 (AP)—Blue chip stocks were forced down severely today in a quiet but relentless decline in the stock market.

Losses mounted to around 5 points at the outside in significant areas, and falls of 1 to around 3 points were quite frequent.

The setback was the greatest of the past six months and erased an estimated three billion dollars from the quoted value of securities listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Back of the fall is the fact that the market has been making sensational gains since mid-February without a pause for consolidation. Also there is the grave situation existing in the Middle East where an explosion could send prices cascading down.

Another point is that federal and New York state income taxes must be paid this week, and there is some selling to raise cash for the tax collector's men.

Background

In the background, too, is the belief that has persisted for several weeks in Wall Street that the Federal Reserve may raise the discount rate in an effort to put another check rein on inflation.

Aircrafts did well throughout the day, especially Lockheed up 1/2 at 48 1/2, and General Dynamics up 1/2 at 60 1/2 as the Air Force awarded contracts to those two companies for development of an atomic warplane.

Chemicals were among the more depressed sections, but also sharply lower were the oils, rails, Steels, coppers, Aluminums and Electronics. One of the biggest losers was Du Pont down 5 at 27 1/2.

Late in the day the market seemed to be doing rather well above its lows when Bethlehem Steel stockholders were told at the annual meeting that "the time is not yet here" for a split. The stock fell 1/2 at 16 1/2 after hitting a high of 16 3/4.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost $2.60 at $108.00, biggest fall since Oct. 10. The industrial component of the average stepped down $4.70, rails were off $2.00, and utilities lost 30 cents.

'Police Action' Is Remote Possibility

By J. M. ROBERTS

Associated Press News Analyst
THE possibility that the U. N. will organize another "police action" in the Middle East—a contingency which seems for the moment to be the principle issue for consideration of use of American troops there—is very remote at this time.

Nobody, and least of all the non-involved nations in the area, such as Greece, Turkey and Italy, want to get involved in another Korea.

If force is required to keep the Israelis and the Arabs from lighting a fuse which could lead to world war, the odds are very great that the borders imposed by Israeli

The borders imposed by Israeli

It will have to be Anglo-American force. Franke would throw in political weight which, because of her involvement in subduing African rebels, she would not have the men to back up.

But this idea of bilateral action by the United States and Britain has been very carefully skirted by President Eisenhower's policy statement Monday and apparently, also, by Secretary Dulles in his briefing of congressional leaders Tuesday.

Indeed, the effect if not the intent of the President's statement seems to be more in the nature of a reassurance to the British of partnership than a notice to the disturbers of the peace that war will not be tolerated.

It does sound, however, like a promise of firmer policy in the future if the parties to the dispute pay no heed to the representations of Secretary General Hammarskjöld of the U. N. and others who are bringing pressure for rein-statement of the 1949 truce.

That's something Britain has desperately wanted.

But in addition to their commitments to the U. N., if the U. N. were disposed to act, Britain, France and the United States have a commitment, a corollary of the U. N. truce, to guarantee the borders between the Jews and the Arabs. military force at the close of the 1948 war, however, rather than by U. N. action, have never been accepted by the Arabs, and this whole business has remained up in the air.

Events in the Middle East are moving so fast that the "maybes" of American policy today may become the urgencies of tomorrow. That is obvious from the briefing given the congressional leaders by Dulles. Through this, the nation is informed that the situation is fluid and moving toward a possible climax. There may be time for Congress and public to figure out what to do with the ball if they have to carry it. The President's statement serves as a sort of first step toward that.

April 16 Important Date For Two Tax Divisions

DISTRICT DIRECTOR of Internal Revenue F. P. Graham said yesterday that, in addition to 1955 income tax returns being due by Monday, April 16, that is also the due date for filing declarations of estimated tax for the year 1956.

Individuals whose income consists of wages subject to withholding tax are required to file estimated tax returns if the gross income from wages can reasonably be expected to exceed:

(1) $5,000 in the case of a single person or married person who is disqualified from filing a joint declaration, or (2) $10,000 in the case of a head of a household, a surviving spouse, or a husband and wife who are entitled to file a joint declaration.

Different Test

"A different test applies if taxable income is received from sources other than wages subject to withholding in an amount expected to exceed $100," Mr. Graham said. "In such case, a declaration is required if total income, including wages subject to withholding can reasonably be expected to exceed $600 multiplied by the number of exemptions that could be claimed on the taxpayer's return, plus $400."

The requirements apply to every citizen of the United States, whether residing at home or abroad, and to every resident alien. Payment of at least one-fourth of the estimated tax is required to be paid by April 16. Subsequent payments are due June 15, September 15, and January 15, 1957, Mr. Graham said.

AAUW Slides Offer Tips To Travelers

Tips for travelers among the members of the American Association of University Women's Club and their guests ranged from carvings to flamingo, from family camp sites to the fjords of Finland, in a program of travel pictures from the picture libraries of club members.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Harold C. Edwards, Club Court, on Monday night. The program was arranged by Dr. Dorothy Luckner and Mrs. Harold Flagler, and featured not only pictures of the highlights of varied trips taken by six members, but also their own comments and suggestions for future travelers who might be following in their footsteps.

For Mrs. Wendell Wicks, the important features of their trip through the west were the family camp sites along the way. For Miss Katherine McFarland, the famous glass church in California and the flamingos in Florida, vied for honors. Mrs. Harold Creveling showed slides of Bryce Canyon in the west and the flora of Florida.

Some of the most unusual pictures were those which Dr. Madelon Powers had taken of the prehistoric carvings in the caves near Bordeaux, France, which compared favorably with similar pictures of the famous findings shown recently in Life magazine.

Miss Julia Sieg's pictures covered northern Europe, including Finland and Denmark, while Mrs. Jack Lantz went to our own North with pictures of Banff and the Canadian Rockies.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

If you could have heard the racket coming from the Edwards' basement on Monday night, you would have agreed that events proved the statement that meetings held in homes are much more fun. It was the noisiest, and the friendliest, AAUW meeting of the year.

I imagine that at the Woman's Club card party last night at O'Neill's you heard much the same enthusiastic chatter, of which I expect to hear the import today, mind you.

Speaking of lively publicists, today's gold stars will have to go to the girls who flooded the downtown district with little fliers advertising the gym exhibit at Stroudsburg High School on Thursday night. They were really thorough.

The mothers carrying tiny ballet costumes through the streets could have taken a lesson from them in public relations. They might have had a sign pinned to the costumes telling where and when the dance recital was to take place.

Anything else that finds a free time to happen in these next few weeks will have to find it right after breakfast some morning from the flood of announcements coming in.

Time itself seems to speed up at this season of the year, and it's always a shock to have a monthly meeting that seemed just a few days ago coming around again. Which reminds me that the Jolly Jones report that they got to keep those hand-crocheted nut cups from last month's meeting.

Homemakers will find inspiration in pretty pastel prints not only in florals but also in checks and stripes. There is a trend toward using related tones of a single color. THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

"After my appearance Monday at the Wyckoff Shopper, I had five proposals," John Meunier informed me when I walked into the radio station yesterday. He certainly has a better record than I—but then he didn't mention what the proposals were. . . . Isn't it strange—I'd been away from the store only since last Friday, but always when one returns there's the feeling of coming into an alien world. So much has happened in the meantime! The office with its blue walls and pink and gold draperies is familiar, and so are the faces. The call bells and cash registers have the same golden sound. The ring of the telephone, and the activities being pursued all around you are unchanged. But there all similarity ends. The merchandise—or at least a great part of it—is merchandise you haven't seen before. And this time I returned to find our new Revolving Credit System in force, with new sales books and charge plates being used. All of this is a tribute to the progressive nature of my favorite store—but it's somewhat appalling until the edges finally melt away and one slides back into the old familiar groove. . . . My last few days have been spent in Baltimore where my son is hospitalized, and while I found southern hospitality all that's reputation would have you believe, (and more) I also found southern weather on a bad tempered hinge. A winter coat would have been heavenly—and so would one of the 5.98 tote bags with miniature umbrellas being sold in Bea Gorgy's department. The white totes, trimmed in black patent, have a black patent pocket on the side that holds an average-sized umbrella with a tiny handle. It opens in a twinkling—just as any other regular umbrella you may own. But I was carrying a collapsible job when I emerged into a downpour. In a jiffy I had my umbrella out of its case and partway up. THAT'S where the hitch developed. It wouldn't go up all the way and it wouldn't go down. There it was, poking out in all directions while I grew wetter (and shorter tempered) by the minute. "A little 3-in-one oil might help, Miss," one gentleman volunteered, grabbing the obstreperous thing in a determined hand. But my umbrella resisted all battering and pumping. "Maybe," I said, "I should just toss it in that waste can." At the final count, three men were involved with my umbrella. Minutes passed and so did their bus. But the struggle continued. Finally it folded enough that it could be strapped into a reasonable "fascimile" of being closed. There it remained. About the only thing I could have done with it was klobber over the head anyone attempting to molest me. But no one did. . . . Further greedy gazing in our hangar department discloses some linen-type handbags in natural color with beautiful butterfly and leaf design at 10.50 and 12.50. Stunning. I call them! Trim, including the handle, in patent leather. I always did say we should put a patent on spring—and this year it's a very smart idea. . . . "Do Pennsylvanians talk differently than other people?" I asked one of our executives yesterday. "Every taxi driver in Baltimore asked me 'what part of Pennsylvania I was from.' He gave me a scowl. 'Not all of them,' he said pointedly. 'Only the ones who talk all the time.' At any rate, I picked up a great deal of information about the drivers, and discovered that—to a man—all of them knew a great deal about the Poconos, thanks to last August's flood. If that flood didn't do another thing, it made everyone conscious of our resorts and camps. The cable that made the biggest hit with me, was one who remarked, 'Stroudsburg—I know that town. There's a big department store there, and two years ago my wife bought three dresses there. My one complaint is that the salespeople are too darned good. She never went haywire like that before.' Our salespeople are good. So are our styles and prices.

New Charge Against Stalin

MOSCOW, April 10 (AP)—The Russian people have now been told that Stalin let them down by failing to prepare the country for the attack by Nazi Germany in 1941.

But Pravda, the official Communist party newspaper, chose a most indirect way of dealing with this and other grave charges against the late Premier.

Accusations against Stalin that appeared in an editorial in Jen Min Jih Pao, a Communist Chinese paper in Peiping, were reprinted in Pravda.

The charge that Stalin failed to take preventive measures on the eve of the war with Germany has been the gravest laid against him in party meetings going on in the Soviet Union as part of the downgrading of Stalin's reputation.

Scientists are confident that sleeping sickness can be wiped out in Africa.

Eisenhower Has Lost Services Of Only Three Of 14 Cabinet Members During Tour Of Office

By ARTHUR EDSON
WASHINGTON, April 10 (AP)—Maybe Republicans stood outside for so long looking in that they determined to hang on once they got a Cabinet post.

Or maybe President Eisenhower, as coach of the GOP team, knows the knack of keeping up squad morale. Whatever the reason, Eisenhower has had remarkably few changes in his official family.

Douglas McKay drops out this week as secretary of the interior, to try for the Oregon Senate seat now held by Wayne Morse, a Democrat. Of the original 10 Cabinet officers picked by Eisenhower, McKay is only the third to quit.

The late Martin P. Durkin, Eisenhower's first secretary of labor, was the first to go. But since Durkin was a Democrat, his resignation wasn't entirely unexpected.

Oveta Culp Hobby, the only woman in Eisenhower's Cabinet, is the other who resigned. She was secretary of health, education and welfare.

Stay Put
The rest — Dulles, Humphrey,

Wilson, Brownell, Summerfield, Benson and Weeks — have stayed put.

It's hard to tell whether this is a record because the number of Cabinet officers has varied with the years.

James Polk, for example, also had a placid regime, so far as Cabinet changes went. Of his six, four stayed the full four years.

The greatest changes naturally come when a vice president steps up to the head job. He inherits a cabinet that owes him no allegiance, and so he usually replaces them with his own men.

Possibly the high in cabinet shakeups came under John A. Tyler.

William Harrison died a month after taking office. Tyler not only shuffled off Harrison's cabinet, but also did an incredible amount of shuffling on his own.

Navy
Before he had served out his 3 years and 11 months, he had had four secretaries of state, three secretaries of war, four secretaries of the treasury, three attorneys general, two postmasters general and five secretaries of navy.

The Navy must have had an extra rowboat in those days just to paddle the secretaries in and out of office. Between 1841 and 1846, eight different men had a try at being secretary.

Although Cabinet jobs have changed tremendously with the years, there is no indication this has made much difference in the survival rate.

George Washington managed to hang on to his official family pretty well, even though they were beset with troubles that seem strange to us today.

Atty. Gen. Brownell gets $25,000 a year and supervises 30,000 employees in the Department of Justice. Washington's attorney general, Edmund Randolph, had no Cabinet rating and was expected to work only part time.

Randolph complained that in order to live he had to scrounge around picking up private law cases. "Perhaps in a petty mayor's or country court."

He stuck it out, though, for five years.

Following a short business meeting, a program of movies and music was presented. Refreshments were served.

Bangor High Drops Diamond Inaugural To Easton, 6-1

Jabby Williams' Solo Blast Only Run Posted By Maroon

EASTON—The Red Rovers of Easton High marred Bangor High School's 1956 baseball season opening yesterday by registering a 6-1 triumph over the Maroon here at Cottingham Stadium.

Chuck Spieser Favored To Defeat Rowan

DETROIT, April 10 (AP)—Chuck Spieser, fourth-ranked light heavyweight contender, was favored today to gain a decision over aggressive Joey Rowan of Phoenixville, Pa., in their fight at Olympia Stadium tomorrow night.

Both boxers, equally ambitious, contracted to weigh in at under the 175-pound limit tomorrow.

The 10-round bout will be nationally televised ABC-TV-Radio, 10 p. m., EST.

A victory for Detroit Spieser probably would give him his third shot at Willie Pastrano at New Orleans. Spieser lost to Pastrano the first time they met. They fought to a draw in a rematch at Miami in January.

17-3-1 Record
Spieser, 26, product of Michigan State University, has a 17-3-1 record, including 12 knockout victories.

Rowan, who is five years younger, has a 27-8-1 record, including 13 kayos.

Little Loop Aides To Meet Tomorrow

OFFICERS, team managers and interested parents are scheduled to attend a meeting of the Stroudsburg Little League at the Stroudsburg YMCA tomorrow, starting at 8 p. m.

Highlighting the session will be discussions on team equipment and matters pertaining to registering new players.

Registering Date
Jack Mullins, Little League president, announced last night that the official date for registrations is Friday, April 20. The "linkings" will take place at Stroudsburg High School.

Mullins emphasized that the registrations are only for boys who have not yet been signed up.

'Cycle Champion' At Reading Sunday

READING—Everett Brashear, one of few riders to ever win five national championship motorcycle races in a single year, is headed for the Billy Huber Memorial motorcycle races at the Reading Fairgrounds, Sunday afternoon.

Brashear, who hails from Beaumont, astounded the cycle world last year, by accounting for five national championship races, and then adding the title of "the year's most popular rider" for good measure.

He won the 5-mile national for half mile tracks at Richmond, Va.; 10-mile national for half mile tracks at Columbus, Ohio; 15-mile national for mile tracks at DuQuoin, Ill.; 20-mile national for mile tracks at Bay Meadows, Cal.

THE END?—Because he allegedly played against professionals in 1952 under an assumed name, Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, above, 7-foot freshman basketball phenom of the University of Kansas, may be through as an amateur player. Wilt had hopes of becoming a collegiate All-American and of being selected by the AAU for the 1956 Olympics.

The lone bright spot in the Bangor offensive was a home run by J. L. (Jabby) Williams, son of Maroon Mentor J. L. Williams Sr., in the fourth inning with none aboard.

Easton Never Headed
Easton, coached by Eddie Snyder, former Stroudsburg Poconos professional ballplayer, went out to a 1-0 lead in the second inning and was never headed thereafter.

The Rovers added another tally in the third and after Williams' blast in the fourth sent two across in their half of the frame to take a 4-1 edge. Easton got two more insurance markers in the 6th to practically clinch the verdict.

Easton's attack was built around Danny Gelbert, son of Charley Gelbert, head baseball coach at Lafayette College here, and Terry Bartolet, son of Easton's football mentor, Charley Bartolet.

Back-to-Back
The coaches' offspring led the Rovers with a pair of back-to-back homers in the fourth frame to give Easton its 4-1 spread. Gelbert also chipped in with a double.

Don Smith went all the way on the mound for Bangor. He allowed only seven hits but was kept in hot water by walking six.

Tom Dairymple, ace righthander of the Rovers, and Nick Pell shared the hill chores for the Snydermen. Dairymple got credit for the victory after working the first four innings.

The Rover hill duo was touched for only four safeties—two of them by Glen Heard, the Slater's shortstop. Freeman got the other bingle for Bangor.

A LETTER arrived the other day asking us to size up a few of the batters who graced Harry Freedman's lush layout along the Delaware River, near Columbia, N. J.

Perhaps it would be better to say at the start that our versions probably won't coincide with other experts in the pugilistic field.

But we will try and give an honest-to-goodness analysis of the boys we saw in training drills at Harry's now extinct boxing camp.

For a start let's take Jimmy Carter, the lightweight who has held and lost the championship in his division more times than any other fighter on the face of the earth.

At times Carter seemed to us one of the best pugilists, pound for pound, at his weight. At other intervals, Jimmy, in our estimation, was one of the poorest representatives of the wearer of the crown.

These in and out performances of Carter will not label him as one of the best of his trade in ring history. However, to give the New York City battler due credit he had a pair of the quickest hands in the business. But there were plenty of moments when the mitts were idle.

Carter is down in the record books as an ex-champion but we have eyed better boys in his division over the years.

Our next "victim" is Paul Andrews, the lad who came out of Buffalo, N.Y. with the tag of the next light heavyweight king.

But to the dismay of his many followers, Big Paul landed in the also-ran class.

Andrews had all the equipment but one element to be a great fighter. The shortage was desire. The New York State boy can box, toss a hard wallop and move with lightning speed, despite his size. But his heart was not in the game.

We've seen Andrews put on some of the best exhibitions in Harry's inside arena and then hit the Gotham or Windy City and look like a novice. Why? Well one of the trainers who used to frequent Freedman's spot might have had the answer when he said, "Andrews is a front-runner. When the going gets tough then the amateur comes out in him. He lacks a pro's winning instinct."

Next on the list is Ralph (Tiger) Jones, probably one of the most popular middleweights to work out at the site of the Gap.

Jones, now rated No. 1 spoiler in the middleweight division, is the hardest worker we've seen ply the trade at Freedman's. From the time he entered the confines of the camp, the Tiger was all business.

And it paid off, the continual plodder who vacated the southland for northern territory takes one of the best punches in the business. He also can throw them as his upset victory over Sugar Ray Robinson will attest. Of course, we wouldn't pick the Tiger to top Robby today to the two happened to come to grips. But it's still in the books—a 10-round decision over Sugar Ray Robinson.

Despite the underdog triumphs, Jones is not expected to become the king of his group. As in the past and at the present, the Tiger will be used only to test the guy who might get a shot at the title. If he defeats the "good" prospects then the vanquished retires from the championship scene while the Tiger awaits a new blooming bud to come to the fist horizon. This is the way it probably will be for Jones until he hangs up the gloves.

Personally we'd like to see the Tiger get a crack at the crown because he has dumped more than his share of contenders. However, in facing the facts, we don't see Jones quite making the grade. We may be wrong but after continual contact with the so-called guys on the "in" the handwriting is on the wall for Tiger to be just a "tester."

The remainder of Harry's boxing guests can be wrapped up in a paragraph or two. The likes of Nino Valdes, the Cuban heavyweight, and his fellow countrymen Chico Varona and Turzo Portuguese were strictly journeymen. Even at that we're elevating Nino much higher than his exhibitions showed.

Billy McNece, Jackie LaBua, Red Top Davis, Jack Anthony and a few lesser knowns all will be forgotten before too long.

Other "big names" were there but their monickers were not outstanding enough for us to even remember at this writing.

'Intentional Laming' Report Under Race Unit Probe

2nd 'Tampering' Incident In Month At Maryland Track

BOWIE, Md., April 10 (P)—The Maryland Racing Commission today investigated the reported "intentional laming" of a thoroughbred stabled at nearby Laurel Race Course.

It was the second apparent tampering incident in a month of a horse entered in the current Bowie meeting and stabled at Laurel.

D. Eldred Rinehart, chairman of the commission, said the investigation had been in progress since trainer Claude Felner reported last Friday that One Throw, 7-year-old favorite for the seventh race that day, was lame.

Rinehart said Felner reported he believed the horse had been "intentionally lamed."

Snowden Carter, racing writer for the Baltimore Evening Sun, quoted Felner that One Throw "was struck by a hard object on one of his forelegs sometime between the hours of midnight and 4 a.m. last Friday."

The laming occurred in Barn 17 at nearby Laurel where Henry H. Hecht's One Throw was quartered for the Bowie meet.

Felner said he discovered when he arrived at his barn Friday morning that his watchdog described as a "ferocious pit bull" had been locked in a feed room that One Throw's stall had been entered, and that a handgrip and a protective boot had been removed from the horse's right foreleg.

The veterinarian told the commission there was a swelling on the horse's right leg and it appeared he had been struck or bumped with a hard object.

The handgrip, which had been fastened to the horse's leg by two safety pins, and the boot, fastened by a buckle, were found in the stall.

One Throw was scratched from the race, a $10,000-8,000 claiming feature, after Felner discovered the injury. The horse had been picked on top by most of the country's handicappers and was expected to be the short-priced favorite. One Throw won a $7,500-6,500 claiming race at Bowie last March 26.

Felner at Loss
Felner was at a loss to explain how an intruder managed to unlatch his fence watchdog from a wire which allowed the animal to run the length of the Felner barn. Private watchmen were on duty at nearby barns and the regular Laurel night watchman also was on duty. No one reported hearing or seeing anything out of order in Barn 17.

Officials of Laurel, which opens its own meeting April 18, had no comment on the incident other than to say Felner had not approached them on the matter. "All we know is what we read in the paper," a Laurel spokesman said. Bowie officials likewise declined comment, saying the matter was in the hands of the stewards and the commission.

Rinehart said the commission would have no comment until completion of its investigation. Last month, another horse stabled at Laurel was found to have caffeine in its urine after winning at Bowie. Trainer James McGee, who maintained his innocence at a commission hearing, was suspended for six months. He told the commission he was suspicious of a stablehand he once fired.

Montreal Again Is Favored To Capture Championship In International League

By CLARENCE YOUNG
CPA Correspondent

COLUMBUS, O.—As usual, Montreal is rated "the team to beat" in the International League—and the Toronto Maple Leafs may be just the ones to do it.

In the last 11 years, Montreal, a Brooklyn farm club, has won six pennants and finished second four times and third once. Small wonder the Royals are respected by the opposition.

Greg Mulleavy, who guided Montreal to the pennant by the slender margin of one-half game over Toronto last year, is back again and, of course, would like to make the bulge at the season's end even higher.

The Royals have lost Pitchers Ken Lehman and Tom LaSorda. Infielders Chico Fernandez and Charlie Neal and Outfielder Gino Cimoli from last year's flag winner, but the parent Dodgers are expected to return Fernandez and possibly Neal.

Detroit Castoff
Leo Cristante, obtained from Detroit, and Johnny Janes, up from Fort Worth, are expected to bolster the mound staff while Bob Borkowski and Frank Marchio should help the outfield corps.

Big gun in the Montreal attack undoubtedly again will be Glenn (Rocky) Nelson, slugging first baseman who goes like a house afire in the minors but fizzes like a wet firecracker in the majors. Last year, Nelson topped the International in hitting (.364), home runs (37) and runs batted in (130).

The shrewd Bruno Betzel has succeeded Luke Sewell as the Toronto manager and is confident of giving the Royals a close run for the pennant. Toronto, however, is independently owned and may find talent not quite so plentiful as with Montreal.

Senate Okays Amendments To Fight Code

HARRISBURG, April 10 (P)—The Senate today approved 47-0 a group of amendments designed to strengthen portions of Pennsylvania's new boxing code. The bill was sent to the House.

Must Stay Down
The alterations declare that when a boxer is knocked down he must remain down until the count of eight even though able to get up and fight before that time.

A fighter knocked out in any bout would be required to undergo a thorough physical examination after six weeks.

Retire Fighter
Still another amendment authorizes the state Athletic Commission to retire any fighter who is "repeatedly knocked out," provided a physician finds it to the man's best health interests.

Investigate Loser
Any fighter suffering six consecutive defeats would be investigated by the Athletic Commission and required to undergo a physical examination.

Brooks, Braves Reported Squabbling Way Northward

By Whitney Martin
NEW YORK, April 10 (P)—Caught short:

The Brooklyn Dodgers and the Milwaukee Braves are squabbling their way north together like one big, happy family, but to date nobody has pulled a knife. The games they play are exhibitions of bad temper and rowdiness. If they are just practicing now, what will it be like when they start playing for real? Anyway, maybe it's time to ask: "Is this trip necessary?"

When Bobby Bragan assembled his Pittsburgh Pirate squad for the first time this spring he made it clear that past performance meant nothing, and that the only players he would favor would be those who played the best baseball. "There are 25 jobs open," he said, "and each of you has to beat out the other candidates to land one." Bragan says one of the best umpires he ever saw is one in Cuba named Maestri. The strictest, too. "If he even thought you were going on the field to protest he'd throw you out of the park, even if you were just moving toward the water cooler," Bragan insists. Bragan knows National League umpires have been alerted, so don't look for him better than last year when the club finished in seventh place after being hastily organized. At that, the Jets made it mighty interesting before finally fading in the last few weeks of the campaign. Manager Nick Cullip expects Charlie Bishop and Ray Herbert, both with Kansas City last year, and Bob Kuzava, one-time World Series hero with the Yankees, to brace his mound staff.

Rochester will go to the post April 18 with virtually the same lineup that won the International League playoffs last year. Manager Fred (Dixie) Walker is not against making a change here and there in his lineup and he emphatically states that any and all help from the parent St. Louis Cardinals will be welcome.

Here's how they finished last year: Montreal, Toronto, Havana, Rochester, Syracuse, Buffalo, Columbus and Richmond.

And here's how they may—or may not—finish this season: Montreal, Toronto, Rochester, Columbus, Havana, Buffalo, Miami and Richmond.

Remember Ralph Branca? Well, the ex-Dodger has found a much more enjoyable job than pitching home run balls to Bobby Thomson, such as he did in the final playoff game with the Giants in 1951. He's been assisting in the publicizing of the name-that-colt contest sponsored by a tobacco company, and oddly enough the colt to be awarded the winner was bred by another ex-Dodger—from office—Larry MacPhail.

YOU BORN TODAY belong to the head sign of the Zodiac. Intelligent, ambitious, sometimes too aggressive for your own good. Soften any tendency to "lord" it over others; this you will make others feel more cooperative toward you. You can see application to professional, any occupation initiative. Many of our noted journalists, lawyers and business executives were Aquarians. Practice patience, tolerance, mildness. Edw. Kerevit, and Chas. Evans Hughes, noted American statesmen.

Forms For Tax Licenses Now Available

APPLICATION forms for state sales tax and hotel occupancy tax licenses are now available at the Stroudsburg Postoffice and Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce office, it was reported yesterday by Jay Rock, of Wilkes-Barre, district director for the Sales Tax Division of the Pennsylvania Department of Revenue.

Any retailer or hotel, rooming house and motel owner who has not yet registered may obtain either or both of the forms by calling at the postoffice.

All retailers who are not licensed and sell taxable merchandise are required to obtain a license. Every piece of merchandise, with the exception of take-home food, prescription medicines and clothing, other than formal wear, is taxable.

Subject
Restaurant meals costing 51 cents or more are subject to the three per cent sales tax. Alcoholic and soda beverages are not taxable, but coffee, tea and milk are considered part of the meal and subject to the tax.

Take-home meals from an eating establishment are not taxable unless delivered by the seller. All food consumed on the premises is taxable.

The hotel occupancy tax applies to any person or establishment who rents rooms on a daily or weekly basis. The tax is also applied on a three percent basis.

Any guest occupying a room for 30 days or longer is considered a permanent guest and is not subject to paying the tax.

Operators of hotels, inns, motels, tourist homes, rooming houses or courts who fail to register are subject to a stiff penalty under the act. Cost of registration is $2, same as under the sales tax.

State Revenue Department agents pointed out that hotels and other rooming places which serve meals or operate refreshment or souvenir stands must file two applications, one for sales tax and one for hotel tax.

The agents said anyone wishing one of the registration forms must apply in person at the postoffice. As Postmaster Fred Rhodes has agreed to distribute the forms only as an accommodation. A limited supply of forms also will be available at the Chamber of Commerce office.
